MEMPHIS, TENN.

LITTLE Rock Gazette: General Keys Danforth, formerly of this city, and Adjutant General when Clayton was Governor, died in New Mexico a day or two since. He was clerk of the Supreme Court of Colorado at the time of his demise. He was a son-in-law of ex-Governor Hadley, and was well known throughout Arkansas.

THE New York Herald says: "The Fourth of July has passed, but the toy pistols have survived, and not a day passes without reports of injury and lockjaw among their owners. The law should enable all police officers to seize and destroy these popular infernal machines." The law is strong enough in most States, but the trouble is that the parents of the boys sustain them in many things that should be discouraged, and policemen who undertake to interfere with toy pistol sport find that have a first-class row on their hands.

Two years ago the Avalanche zealously supported the Democratic State ticket on a State credit platform. Now as then the Avalanche is supporting the Democratic State ticket on a State credit platform. Two years ago the Ledger supported the repudiation candidate on a repudiation platform. Now as then the Ledger is advocating the election of a repudiation candidate on a repudiation platform. Hence, both these able newspapers consist—[Avalanche.

We accept the statement of our good and great contemporary, as to its position two years ago, with pleasure. The mystery is cleared up sooner than we expected. In less than ten years the public may find out whom the Avalanche was aiding in 1882.

THE high and low tax Republicans of this county do not dwell together in peace and unity as might be. What the divisions may amount to eventually is very uncertain. Yet it seems that there is considerable earnestness and determination, as well as plenty of ability and leadership, on both sides. There are personal as well as political differences, even as it is in the Democratic party, and with a rather risky disposition to fight it out and determine which is the true blue Republican party. The election is not far off which will at least settle the claims of all candidates for county offices. Then the wounded will limp off and the dead, politically speaking, will be buried.

THE LEDGER originated the term sky blue as applied to the Bailey-Fussell Democratic faction, but neglected to take out a patent. The Avalanche likes the name so well that it has appropriated it as a sort of trade mark. Go ahead; you are welcome to it, for yours will be the bluest looking party after the November election that ever turned its little toes up toward the sky. We furnish the name now, and will write the epitaph afterward. It will begin something like this: "Here lies the valiant but indignant defender of the 100-3 and the 60-4 acts, and the ambitions of a few old men and several misguided young men. They sleep well, no trump shall ever disturb them," or words to that effect. And the blue birds shall build nests unmolested in the limbs overhead.

It now appears that many of the bolters wereajoined into the idea of making a nomination by the July rump under the impression that Luke Wright, a man of fair ability and known outside his own county, was to be the nominee, but they found after the trap was sprung that they had been deceived, and that Wright had never a thought of accepting the honor (?) notwithstanding the powerful pressure that was brought to bear upon him.—[Nashville World.

Yes, Luke Wright is too smart a man to walk into any such a trap as that. He may have a political future if he chooses to avail himself of it, and there is no good reason why he should be bottled up in the prime of life by accepting a bolters' nomination. Captain Russell can, perhaps, afford it, as he is Attorney General of his district and will be permitted to discharge the duties of the position for four years to come without interruption, unless he chooses to make a few speeches during the canvass.

O'Dynamite Ross.

N. Y. Herald.

In a recent issue of the London Times a correspondent of that journal writes from a city of history, more or less authentic, of the operations of that part of the Irish race in America which proposes to blow England to smithereens with dynamite. By that article we rejoice to see that England trembles at the name of Ross. It is, of course, not to be expected that the London Times should love this explosive and irrepressible patriot, and when it "chucks o'ium" upon him it does him most honor. Indeed, inasmuch as it is evident that there are two parts of the dynamite division, and that while one contrives explosions the other sells the knowledge of them to England, it is a subject for rejoicing that the Times did not praise Ross, since that might have led to the suspicion that he was himself the gemmeral patriot.

Arrangements to Fill Up the Gap.

Through Cars from San Francisco in Two Years.

NEW YORK, July 21.—The Advisory Commission is understood to have made up its report on the matter of differential rate. A meeting was held yesterday, at which the report is said to have been presented. The Joint Executive Committee meet here on Wednesday next. Everybody has a point to buy Western Union for 95. There is said to be a strong bull pool in Louisville & Nashville. The earnings of the Chesapeake & Ohio for the second week in July increased $2552. The earnings for the first two weeks in July increased $41,494 over the corresponding week last year. Huntington is quoted as saying that through trains will be run from Newport News to San Francisco in two years.

Arrangements were made for filling the gap between Memphis and the Southern Pacific route. San Francisco dispatches state that the Southern Pacific route to New Orleans will be completed about October 1st. Steamers will soon be ready to run from New Orleans to European ports, and it is stated that emigrant rates from Liverpool to San Francisco will be put down to $50.

The demand for railroad bonds has increased rapidly this week. One foreign house is borrowing 21,000 shares. Stock in this market is sold against stock to arrive.

Wall Street.

NEW YORK, July 21, 11 a.m.—Speculation on the Stock Exchange opened strong and prices in the main were fraction higher. During the first half hour leading stocks were characterized by a slightly feverish tone, but the market gradually became firm, and an advance took place of 1 to 1 1/2 per cent. Lake Erie & Western, Canada Southern, Lake Shore, Michigan Central, and Northern Pacific leading.

Money, 2 1/2; prime mercantile paper, 4 1/2; bar silver, $1.13; exchange steady, 8 1/2 long, 8 1/2 short. Government bonds: States unchanged; railroads strong and active.

Stocks fell off 1/2 to 1 1/2 per cent after 11 o'clock and the market was feverish up to noon, when speculation became steadier with an upward tendency. Quicksilver was strong, common selling up 1 per cent, and preferred 2 1/2 per cent.

Government 6s extended, 102 1/2; 5s, 102 1/2; 4 1/2s, 114 1/2; 4s, 120 1/2; Pacific 6s of '95, 130.

Fire.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—The railway supply depot of M. M. Buck & Co., No. 209 North Third street, is now on fire and will probably be a total loss.

Walsh to Testify Against the Star Routes.

WASHINGTON, July 21.—Judge Wylie has decided to admit the testimony of Walsh in the Star Route cases.

Mexican News.

GUAYMAS, MEXICO, July 14, via Tucson, Arizona, July 20.—The celebration of the battle of the 13th of July, 1864, took place here to-day. At the opening of the day a band paraded the streets, and cannons were fired in the afternoon in honor of this celebrated battle with Count Ravussett D'Boaton. A triumphal car, bearing the officers at the head of the battle and Jose Mayones, was drawn through the streets. At five o'clock in the afternoon speeches were made, and the correspondence between Count Ravussett and Yantz read. A large lot of fireworks was burned in the evening, and the day's celebration was a credit to the city.

At a recent State election, the following persons were elected to fill the different offices of the State and Republic: Senator Propertorio for Sonora, Joseph F. Otero; Supreme Esequiel Mentez Disputado Propertorio for the Hermosillo District, Angioleta Manes; Supplemente like Jesus, M. Aguilar.

In the District of Salmaripe the Apaches have been depredating terribly. In a recent ambuscade Colonel Lorenzo Ortiz was wounded, besides three soldiers killed and three wounded. A Congressman from that district, Don L. T. Provincio, was also killed by a roving band. Reports state that a number of private citizens have been massacred.

Altamirano, a murderer, is still confined in the Hermosillo jail. Owing to some legal flaw he has not been shot yet.

Six hundred feet of street railroad has been completed. The entire road will be finished by the first of December.

FOREIGN.

ALEXANDRIA, July 21.—All the French ships have left here and the United States flag has gone to Brindisi. The markets and bourse are reopening for business. It will not be surprising if Arabi Pasha's measures in regard to the water supply of Alexandria lead to the immediate advance of the British troops. Major General Alison has telegraphed home for instructions. An Arab spy states that the damming of the Mohamdi canal has flooded the country. The water in places is knee deep, making the ground too soft for the movement of guns. A native has just been shot while attempting to set fire to a house in the center of the city.

LONDON, July 21.—A long dispatch from Granville to Dufferin, the English Ambassador at Constantinople, dated July 11th, is published. After justifying the bombardment of Alexandria, the dispatch states that Her Majesty's government now see no alternative but recourse to force to put an end to the intolerable state of affairs in Egypt. It would be most in accordance with the principles of international law that the force should be that of a sovereign power. If this is impracticable, on account of the unwillingness of the Sultan to assent, it may become necessary to devise other means. Her Majesty's government continue to hold the view that any intervention should represent the united action and authority of Europe. They have, in fact, no interests or objects in regard to Egypt inconsistent with those of the rest of Europe or of the Egyptian people. Their desire is that navigation of the canal shall be well and quietly governed, free from predominating influence of any single power; that international engagements shall be observed, and those of the British commercial and industrial interests which have been so largely developed in Egypt shall receive due protection from outrage—a principle which is essential for our interests in all parts of the world. Their policy has been consistent. They have loyally kept their engagements with France and been anxious that the powers be informed and consulted on all matters materially affecting the position of the country. The action which their Admiral has been compelled to resort to has not altered their views.

PORT SAID, July 21.—Arabi Pasha after the bombardment of Alexandria spread the report that the English troops had been defeated. The conduct of the natives consequently is very insolent and the position is critical.

WOOLWICH, July 21.—Several steam transports arrived during the night.

CONSTANTINOPLE, July 21.—It is expected that the Porte will propose that either the Turkish Commission shall accompany the English and French troops, or that the Europeans shall hold the Suez Canal while the Turks operate elsewhere.

ALEXANDRIA, July 21.—A refugee from Cairo reports that numerous massacres of Europeans had taken place on Monday, on the outskirts of that city.

Major General Alison will leave here to-morrow with a detachment of troops to blow up the obstructions in Mohamdi Canal.

The official native report of the bombardment of Alexandria says that eight ironclads were sunk, two burned and four captured, and that the latter would be brought to Cairo.

MARSEILLES, July 21.—Orders have been received at the naval arsenal in Toulon to take measures for receiving in the barracks, next week, different battalions, which are to form a corps for Egypt.

ROME, July 21.—A permanent squadron, composed of four ironclads, has been ordered to proceed to Alexandria.

VIENNA, July 21.—A deluge of rain has occurred in Bohemia and the destruction of crops and property is incalculable. The bodies of a party of seven persons drowned have been recovered. A large part of the harvest in Bohemia has been destroyed.

ST. LOUIS.

Heavy Fires—Arrest of a Band of Counterfeiters.

ST. LOUIS, July 21.—A Cass avenue planing mill, owned by a joint stock company, burned this morning. The loss is about $100,000. It was insured. The cellar and first floor of M. M. Buck's railway supply house was severely damaged by fire this morning. Loss, about $30,000; fully covered by insurance.

A band of counterfeiters have been arrested by the police. Their names are William Hall, alias Winkler, W. H. Perry, alias Weaver, alias Teony, Ben Southern, alias Bennett, Clark, alias Bennett, alias Bassett, Mollie Hall, alias Newton, and William Anderson. The gang is believed to be manufacturers of spurious coin.

A special from Sturgeon, Missouri, says that by a conflagration there last night ten frame buildings were destroyed. Loss, $5000; uninsured.

NEW YORK.

A Murderer Executed—Failures of a Week.

NEW YORK, July 21.—James F. Walsh, the murderer of Barbara Greenhal, was executed at the Raymond street jail, Brooklyn, this morning, in the presence of about 300 spectators. When the drop fell the knot slipped around to the back of Walsh's neck, and he died from strangulation.

The failures in business reported to New York for the week are 124, against 121 last week. The bulk of them are in the Western States, distributed as follows: Eastern 18, Western 45, Southern 22, Middle 25, Pacific coast and Territories 13, New York and Brooklyn 3. New York city business never was more free from disaster than now, apparently.

CHICAGO.

An Advance of Freight, Unfavorable Crop Reports, and Miscellaneous News.

CHICAGO, July 21.—The general freight agents of the lines in the Southwestern Railway Association to whom was referred the question of uniform freight rates to all Missouri river ports, have decided that hereafter rates to Kansas City, Omaha and Council Bluffs shall be alike and be the same as the present rates to Omaha. This is an advance of 2 1/2 cents per hundred pounds on all freight from Chicago and St. Louis to Council Bluffs and Kansas City.

Omaha special: Five business houses in Madison, Nebraska, were burned yesterday. Loss, $25,000; insurance, $1000.

A Clinton, Ill., special says: A leading business man, after traveling all over Iowa and Illinois, predicts less than a half crop of corn in either State.

A Milwaukee special says: The Secretary of the National Cigar Makers' Union telegraphs to the strikers here that they will receive no more weekly payments. About fifty of the strikers have gone to Cincinnati to get work.

A Vincennes, Ind., special says: By the collision yesterday $75,000 damage was done and five men were seriously hurt. It is thought one will die.

A PARABLE APPLIED.

Tennessee Chronicle, According to St. Luke (Wright), Chapter xiv.

C. E. M., in the Courier-Journal.

A certain man made a great supper of boiled meal and bade many, and sent his servant at supper time to say to them that they were bidden. Come, for all things are now ready, and we must needs have a chief to preside over the boiled meal, lest the unbolted loaf upon us and say, "Ha, ha! they have no head center."

And they all with one consent began to make excuse. The first said: I have bought a piece of ground and planted an orchard, and in trimming the superfluous branches the knife did slip and carve me in the thigh. I pray thee have me excused. One on crutches cannot read as he runs; neither can he run as he reads. I will not run.

Another said: I have bought five yoke of oxen, and I go to prove them before the Magistrate, besides, I have other law business. I pray thee have me excused.

And another said after the manner of Ebenezer, surnamed James, I have married a wife, and prefer to do no talking during this campaign; verily she can do enough for both of us, and therefore I can not come to the scratch.

Then the master of the house being angry said to his servants, go out quickly into the streets and lanes of the city, and Hussell and Fussell around like the very devil was after you, and bring in hither the poor, the scrubby, and the maimed, and the halt, and the blind, and compel some one to take the first place at the table, although it shall be like unto the place of chief mourner. For verily this thing is getting serious—not to say monotonous.

And the servant went and soon returned, for even as Potiphar's wife had been captured one Joseph, albeit it was just as the captive was near to getting off on the south bound train, and he returned with him to the Hall, bound hand and foot with hempen throngs. And Joseph rose up and bowed himself down and said to those assembled, "Verily am I your prisoner; ye have catch me at last, but thanks be unto Luke, James and John, there are on iron fetters on these limbs of mine; neither is my shirt-tail rent in twain, as it was with my namesake of old, so that verily I may bear it as an unsplit banner through the land, for I am the very boy to do it."

Thereupon all the elders and Scribes and Pharisees rose up with a loud clamor and clapped their hands, and said "Bully for Joe"; a sweeter little lamb was never before captured than the elders and the Pharisees may make a sacrifice, yes, a savory meat offering of his innocent mutinouship withal, to the good people who had expected to roast us! It was then moved and seconded that they adjourn, and lo! there has been no scratching of candidates since the day of the date thereof. Selah!

COL. CALVIN MORGAN DEAD.

This Brave Brother of the Famous Confederate Chief, General John Morgan, Surrenders Up His Soul.

The Record of His Eventful Life.

Courier-Journal, 20.

Information was received in this city yesterday of the death of Colonel Calvin C. Morgan, a distinguished Confederate Chief, and brother of General John Morgan. Colonel Morgan died at his home in Lexington, where he has been a prominent manufacturer and business man since the war. At the time of his death he was in the fifty-fifth year of his age, and his life was a very eventful, and, in some respects, a remarkable one. He was born in Lexington shortly after the removal of the Morgan family to that place, and was reared up there until the breaking out of the Mexican war in 1846, when, although but little over eighteen years old, he entered the service and enlisted under General Humphrey Marshall, in the company of which Captain Beard had charge, his brother, John Morgan, being Lieutenant. In almost the first engagement in which he figured, young Morgan showed and before the war was over was looked upon as one of the most clear-headed and daring men in the command. He served with credit to himself during the entire war, and only marched away from Mexico with his regiment when the last gun had sounded. He then took up his residence in Lexington, and remained there a short while, until the gold fever broke out in '49, when the love of adventure brought him, with many others, across the mountains to the Pacific slope. He at once entered into the mining business, and in about two years had amassed together over $100,000, with which he returned to his old home in Lexington. In partnership with John Morgan, he embarked in business, and started a large bagging manufactory, which they owned, and conducted together until the breaking out of the civil war, when the two brothers entered the service of the South together. John as commander of his famous cavalry troop, and Calvin as an officer on his staff. He served in this position until his brother's death, when he was transferred to the staff of General Basil W. Duke. He was with Morgan's cavalry

IN ALL THE FAMOUS FIGHTS

and skirmishes, and on the staff of Gen. Duke he figured prominently in some of the most important battles of the war, and was never known to flinch. When the final surrender had been made he once more returned to Lexington, and soon formed a partnership in the manufacture of hemp bagging with the famous turfman H. P. McGrath. This firm continued until the death of McGrath about a year ago, when Colonel Morgan conducted it alone until his health began to fail. For some time he had been annoyed with dropsy, caused by liver and heart complaints. About five months ago his last illness seized him, and since that time until his death he was in almost constant suffering, but never took the idea that he was going to die. The physicians never abandoned hope until about five weeks ago, when he was informed that he was beyond human assistance, but he never believed it, and so strongly did he cling to the idea that he would recover that when McGrath's interest in the manufactory was put up for sale a short time since he bought it in. His strength and vitality was a constant source of astonishment to his friends, and one day when his physician told him that two hours, he got out of bed and walked around the house for some time. His gradually wasting strength and vitality finally ebbed away entirely, however, and early yesterday morning he "crossed over the river" on his last march.

Colonel Morgan was in many respects a remarkable man, both mentally and physically. His frame was a model of power and endurance. He was over six feet tall and formed in proportion. His mind was strong, active and aggressive, and whether on the field of battle or in pursuing his business in private life, he was recognized as a man of superior intellect. His courage was very great and much like that of his famous brother, and in all the battles in which he fought he was never known to be afraid to do his duty. He was married after the war and leaves a wife and two children.

Jewish Immigration to America.

American Israelite.

There are plenty of able bodied Jews in Russia and Roumania, who are desirous to leave, and who are numerous enough to settle all Palestine and leave half a million to seek new homes elsewhere. We Americans are not very eager to receive our quota of that emigration; we can do very well without them. We only look upon that matter from the humanitarian standard.

General Bate's Welcome by National Democrats.

Nashville cor. (C. E. M.) Courier-Journal.

Captain Dick Bullock, the Washington correspondent ("Harper") of the American, is here. He reports that no visitor to Washington was ever received with more enthusiasm than General Bate was. General Rosencrans said, "General, I have saluted you before, but at a greater distance. I am for you and so is every other Democrat. You must and shall be elected." Captain Bullock reports that of all the Democrats in the House and Senate but one, Senator Howell E. Jackson, supports Bate. Beck, Vance, Carlisle, Blackburn, Vest, Jonas, Lamar, each and all said we will stump Tennessee for Bate if necessary.
